ABOUT THIS REPORT

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce was established in 1959 to represent employer interests in the legislative, regulatory and political process. As a statewide business organization, the Michigan Chamber is an advocate for job providers of every size and type located in every county.

In the private sector, accountability is an important part of our economic system. Every day, consumers make choices to purchase or not to purchase products or services. These decisions by individuals result in the marketplace holding businesses accountable for the cost and quality of the products or services they provide.

In the public sector, our system of checks and balances is a plus, but with three separate and independent branches of government involved in establishing public policy, holding legislators accountable for action or inaction on key issues can be difficult.

The purpose of the 2005–2006 Job Providers Index (JPI) is to provide the business community and other interested parties with a measure of how each member of the Michigan Legislature voted on a wide range of economic issues of importance to Michigan’s job providers. This year, the JPI includes roll call votes on key business climate issues such as: tax policy, energy, environmental quality, health care, human resources, telecommunications, education, and tourism. The Michigan Chamber’s position on these key issues was established by Chamber members and communicated to the Legislature in a timely manner.

CAMPAIGN ENDORSEMENTS

The Job Providers Index serves as the basis for campaign endorsements for incumbent legislators. Any incumbent legislator seeking re-election to the same office who scores 75 percent or better on the Job Providers Index receives an “earned endorsement.” However, the Chamber reserves the right to withhold an endorsement from a legislator for unethical or improper conduct. Campaign endorsements (or earned endorsements) received for one office (House or Senate) do not automatically carry over or apply if that individual seeks a different office (e.g. House to Senate or Senate to House). In these circumstances, endorsements are determined by the Michigan Chamber’s Political Action Committee Board.

INTRODUCTION

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce is membership-focused and policy-driven in our approach to the legislative and political process.

At the end of each two-year legislative session, several hundred members of the Michigan Chamber's four policy committees (Energy, Telecommunications & Technology; Environmental Quality; Health & Human Resources; and Tax Policy) conduct a comprehensive review of legislative goals and objectives covering a wide range of economic issues. The Michigan Chamber's policy committees then recommend proposed legislative priorities for the next legislative session to the Chamber's Executive Committee and Board of Directors.

On January 18, 2005, the Michigan Chamber's 87-member Board of Directors approved legislative priorities for the 2005–2006 session. This detailed public policy agenda, prepared with input from business leaders from throughout the state, addressed 10 key issue areas: education quality; energy; environmental quality; health care; human resources; lawsuit abuse; school restructuring; taxes; technology & telecommunications; and transportation.

ACTION

Following the January 2005 Board meeting, the Michigan Chamber's 2005–2006 legislative priorities were announced to the news media and every member of the State House and Michigan Senate received a printed legislative priorities booklet. All state lawmakers were also informed at the start of the session that their voting record on economic issues would be the Chamber's main basis for determining campaign endorsements for legislators seeking re-election to the same office. Any legislator with a voting record of 75 percent or better is eligible to receive an Earned Endorsement from the Michigan Chamber.

Over the past 18 months, Michigan Chamber members and lobbyists have made a concerted effort to communicate our legislative goals and objectives to lawmakers on a regular basis through numerous one-on-one conversations, letters, e-mails, phone calls, faxes, news releases, press conferences and testimony before House and Senate committees.

PROGRESS REPORT

If the 2005–2006 legislative session was a football game, we would be at the end of the third quarter.

The first half of the game went well for Michigan’s job providers. We were able to move the ball down the field and score touchdowns on several key issues. For example, a successful re-write of Michigan’s Telecommunications Act; passage of business tax relief; and approval of reasonable standards for water use, could all be considered “highlight plays.” The third quarter has been a little tougher for business with organized labor on the offense with a minimum wage hike and trial lawyers trying to cause a fumble on tort reform by rolling back the FDA defense.

The recent announcement by the governor and legislative leaders that they reached agreement on a balanced state budget for next year, without raising taxes, is something for taxpayers to cheer about. The budget agreement also means that the House and Senate will only take the field briefly in July and August. The legislature’s fourth quarter will start after the August 8th primary election, with the potential for some action on business climate issues before the game ends with the November 7th general election. It’s helpful to think of a possible lame duck session as a sudden death overtime, with the same potential for some players to enjoy the thrill of victory, while others experience the agony of defeat.

THE 2005–2006 JPI

This year’s Job Providers Index (JPI) is the Michigan Chamber’s voting record for members of the State House and Michigan Senate. Like previous sessions, the key roll call votes are based on our legislative priorities. The voting record in the House includes 21 roll call votes on a wide range of economic issues. The voting record in the Senate includes 22 roll call votes.

Although several of the major bills we worked on this session passed both the House and Senate with substantial bipartisan support, there were also many important issues we worked on this session that provided lawmakers with a clear choice between supporting business v. trial lawyers, employers v. bureaucrats, or job providers v. organized labor.

Because both controversial and consensus issues are included in this edition of the JPI, it is encouraging to note that nine members of the Senate and 34 members of the House scored a perfect 100 percent. Demonstrating once again that leadership makes a difference, we are also pleased to report that Senate Majority Leader Ken Sikkema (R-Wyoming) and Speaker of the House Craig DeRoche (R- Novi) both scored an outstanding 100 percent. Meanwhile, House Minority Leader Dianne Byrum (D-Onondaga) scored only 38 percent and Senate Minority Leader Bob Emerson (D-Flint) rated even lower at 29 percent.
